PROFITEERS CAUSE UNREST OF LABOR, SAYS OFFICIAL

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 20.—Direct responsibility for strikes and the spirit of unrest in the ranks of labor since the war began was placed on the shoulders of unprincipled profiteers of American business by the secretary of Labor Wilson today.

"Labor has been restless because word has gone forth that the iron and steel manufacturers are making 200 to 400 per cent profit, and that shipping, mining and men of other great industries are making enormous profits."

"I have told labor," said Wilson, "that this is no time for them to insist on recognition of their unions nor to force changes of standards that they could not change in peace time; that this program endangers the future liberty of our people."

"I now tell you American business men that this is no time to stand upon your prejudices, nor to insist upon profiteering, as many of your members have been doing. If you couldn't collect abnormal profits in normal times, you should not take advantage of the necessities of your country in this time of crisis."

"Labor has been restless because word has gone forth that the iron and steel manufacturers are making 200 to 400 per cent profit, and that shipping, mining and men of other great industries are making enormous profits."

"This feeling has been justified," Wilson continued. "My investigation of the coal industry in the Eastern States proved it in one of many instances because we found producers were extorting a $5 and $6 margin on coal."

"You should welcome price fixing on your products because it means a logical standard of pay for labor. Let labor and yourselves find a ground that is acceptable, if not satisfactory, to insure the greatest amount of production at the least cost in cash and labor."

Alba A. Johnson, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, bitterly attacked the Sherman anti-trust law, interfering with the work of business men in aiding the Government in winning the war.

It has been demonstrated, he said, that the Sherman act will not stand the strain of war.

UNARMED U. S. SCHOONER IS SUNK BY SUBMARINE

The unarmed American schooner Ann J. Traylor was sunk September 16, a consular telegram to the State Department reported today. The crew of seven men were saved. No details were received.

WOMEN! IT'S CHEAP! USE LEMON JUICE TO MAKE BEAUTY LOTION

In all weathers the skin and complexion can be kept wonderfully clear, soft and white by the use of this inexpensive lemon lotion which any girl or woman can easily prepare.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold cream.

Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness, and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smootheners, and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and hidden beauty of any skin. Those who will make it a habit to gently massage this lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands once or twice daily, will be repaid with a skin that is flexible and young-looking and a peach-like complexion.—Advt.

MRS. FARLING CALLS FOR LAW TO FORCE MODESTY IN DRESS

The mother should have known where her daughter went and have made sure that it was a proper place for her.

Whole Make-up a Lure. "It is not so much the short skirts and flimsy waists that cause the harm but the whole make-up and appearance of the women nowadays that creates the lure for young men."

"A girl dressed modestly and quietly as she should be on the street rarely meets with unfortunate experiences. It is only when she gets herself up like a 'show' that she attracts undesirable attention."

"Of course some men will ogle any woman, but the average man of twenty-five or more does not thrust himself on girls whose ladylike appearance shows them to be what they are."

"Just what law, or regulation should be drawn I am not prepared to say, but I am strongly in favor of some such measure. Such a law could be enforced, and would result in great good to the city. The trouble arising from street flirtations would be lessened because there would be less 'pick-ups' were the women modestly clothed."

Would Compel Modesty in Dress. "Of course as I said these things should be attended to by the parents and families of the girls, but they must be attended to and where the proper persons fail there is nothing left for the law to do but take the necessary precaution to safeguard young womanhood."

"I am sorry to say that these things are true, but I see such conditions every day, and so does everyone else when they go out on the streets of Washington."

Criticize Frederick Findings. Two widely known Washington women, one the wife of a high officer of the army, and the other a member of the Board of Education, took exception today to the report of the Frederick, Md., grand jury condemning the style of feminine dress.

Mrs. Hugh L. Scott, wife of the chief of staff of the army, and Mrs. Rustie Rhodes, educator and supervisor of public playgrounds, came out with statements denying the right of any body of men to pass judgment upon women's dress or dictate what the styles should be.

Mrs. Scott approved the style of present day dress, and Mrs. Rhodes said the mind of women and girls is less on style and finery today than it has been in the past twenty years.

"Not the Fault of Styles." Mrs. Scott today gave her opinion to The Times on the report of the Frederick grand jury concerning the styles of women's wearing apparel.

"It is not the fault of the styles," said Mrs. Scott. "I can see nothing in the matter with the present-day styles."

"I believe that the ladies of Frederick dress the same as do ladies elsewhere, and I do not believe that a jury of men anywhere should dictate to American women as to the clothes that they wear."

"It is not a matter of the styles that should be condemned, it is the individuals that abuse the styles."

"I will admit that styles are very often abused and always have been. Some girls and women like to exaggerate the present-day styles, but that does not prove that there is anything in the matter with the way women in this country dress."

"Clothes should be properly worn. Dresses too short, waists too low, sometimes justify such comment. Public opinion should decide whether styles are becoming or not."

"I will say again that there is nothing in the matter with styles in America. When a style is objectionable public opinion soon rules it out of fashion."

"I don't believe that dress has become immodest gradually, as the report suggests, and as long as public opinion is the authority in matters of becoming dress, I am satisfied to go on record as approving the styles of the day."

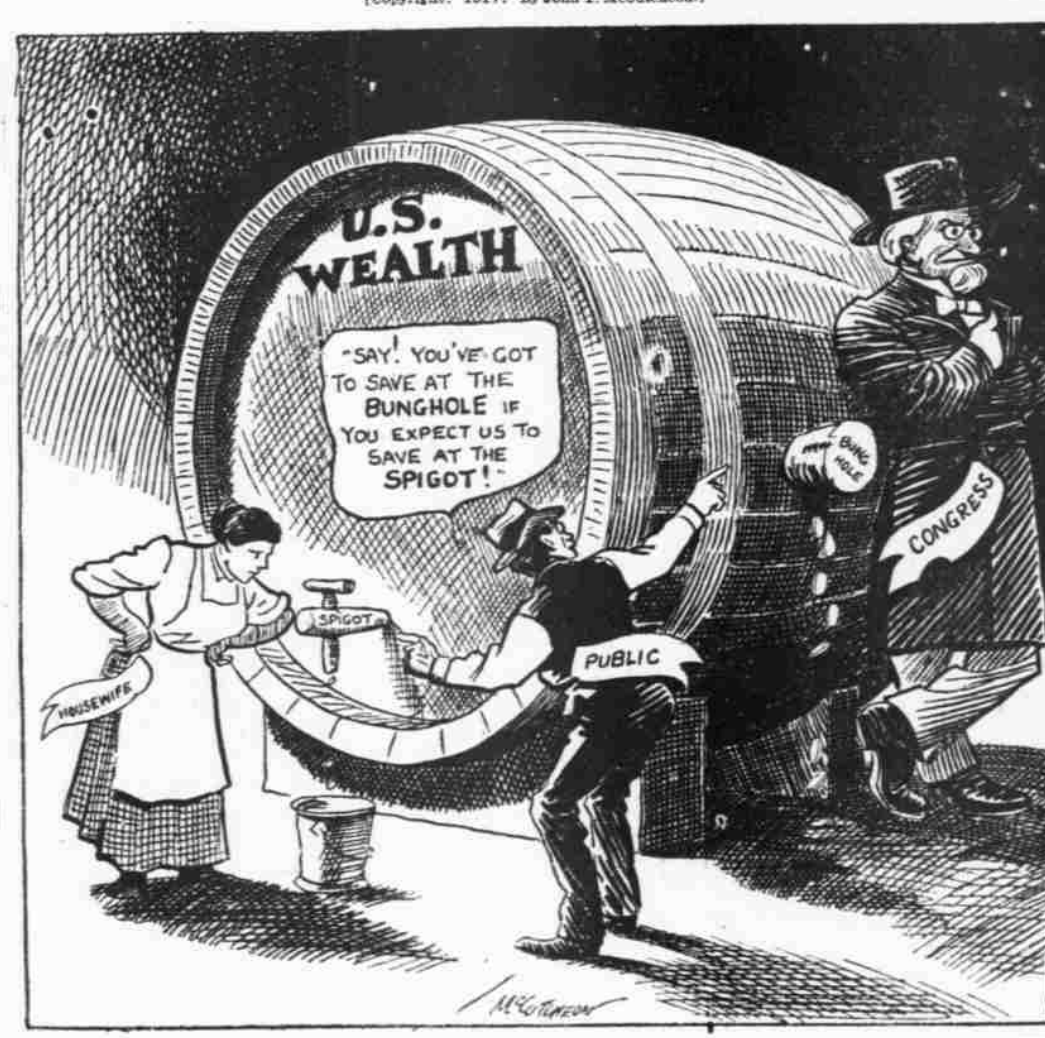

Mrs. Rhodes Defends. "I can see no reason for such a statement as was made by the Maryland grand jury that ruled present day styles as immodest," said Mrs. Rhodes, member of the Board of Education and supervisor of Washington's playgrounds, today in a statement to The Times.

"I believe that girls are paying less attention to fashions than they have in the last twenty years. The extremes of fashion are absent in Washington and the girls that I have come in contact with here are not troubling themselves about styles and fashions at all."

"Most of Washington's girls and women and most of the women in the

EUROPEAN WAR NEWS SUMMARY

The British drive on the Flanders front, predicted several days ago, began today. As a sequel to the bombardment which has been in progress for the last two weeks, the troops of Field Marshal Haig launched forward "over a wide front" and at last accounts were sweeping everything before them east of Ypres.

First reports on the offensive indicate that it may prove one of the greatest undertaken in the west since the rival armies settled to trench warfare. The artillery "preparation" has been one of the most violent ever known. Trench raids—with the British in the aggressive for the most part—have been frequent and important of result and airplane fighting has been conducted on an unexcelled scale.

For the last twenty-four hours the bombardment has been kept at drumfire intensity. Unless the bad weather, which has evidently been delaying infantry movements interferes, it is predicted by competent military observers that the British will be able to extend their lines over a considerable region before they are checked.

Some idea of the "preparation" made for the thrust may be gained from the British casualty report, which shows that General Haig lost upward of 27,000 men by death, wounds, or capture during the week ended yesterday.

Fighting in the Verdun sector has again reached a stage of considerable violence. According to the last German official statement, French infantry launched forward on a two-mile front on the eastern bank of the Meuse "after a short and powerful preparation," only to be hurled back by withering artillery fire. Evidently the assault was a complete failure, as the last French report makes no mention of it. That immediate district has been the scene of heavy cannonading for more than a week.

Unsuccessful German attacks on French defenses east of Craonne, northwest of Nancy, and west of Friedland farm are reported from Paris. Numerous raids were undertaken by both sides at different points on the front.

The Roumanians continue in the aggressive on the Oena front. In the course of what Berlin refers to as "strong" attacks, they have occupied an important height to the south of Grozech during the last thirty-six hours. The Germans claim to have repulsed new assaults near Varnitza and Muncelul and south of the Oituz valley. At the northern end of that long battle line, operations appear to be at a standstill. The latest official statement from Petrograd says that the situation in the Riga region is unchanged.

SUSPICIOUS ACTIONS CAUSE BOAT'S SEIZURE

KEY WEST, Fla., Sept. 20.—Suspicious actions of the four masted steamer Goldfield, of Mobile, caused seizure of the vessel by a Federal patrol boat here this morning and arrest of a Spanish member of its crew.

OFFICIAL WAR REPORTS

BRITISH LONDON, Sept. 20.—Field Marshal Haig's report today says: "We attacked at 5:40 this morning on a wide front east of Ypres. Satisfactory progress is reported. Our troops already have captured some valuable positions."

FRENCH PARIS, Sept. 20.—Today's official statement says: "There was nothing to report except great activity of the artillery in the region south of the river Oise, in the forests of Cornillet and Mont Haut in the Champagne, and on both banks of the river Meuse."

U. S. AGENTS DISCOVER POWERFUL WIRELESS

WAUKESHA, Wis., Sept. 20.—Fully equipped and ready for instant use, a powerful wireless telegraph outfit, seized in a raid on the home of A. F. Callan, head of a Milwaukee tanning firm, is in the hands of United States Secret Service men today. The wireless equipment was found in Callan's summer home at Pine Lake. Search of the home of F. Pabst, wealthy Milwaukee brewer, also was made. It is reported, but no wireless was found.

At the Callan residence the mechanism of the plant was found on a table in a room on the upper floor. Wires were running through a window connected with an aerial arrangement suspended at considerable height. The efforts of the Secret Service men to remove the equipment were resisted, it is alleged.

Treasury Receipts Increase Tenfold In Single Year

Uncle Sam's business, gauged by the financial operations of the Treasury Department, are ten times as great this year as in the early part of the fiscal year which ended June 30 last.

In the present fiscal year thus far Treasury receipts have been about a billion and a half. For the corresponding period a year ago the receipts were but a million and a half.

Disbursements thus far have been about $2,150,000,000. For the same period a year ago they were but $215,000,000. The excess of disbursements over receipts a year ago amounted to about $50,000,000. For the present fiscal year to date they have amounted to approximately half a billion.

KISS IS FOUND ON SIXTEENTH STREET, BUT IT'S SHAGGY

"Je me n'en tra plus!" With this sentiment, "Kiss," a beautiful French dog, reassures his master, Lieut. M. Tabureau, today that he received such a fright when he was lost on the streets of Washington last night that the performance will never be repeated.

If "Kiss" were an American dog, he would hold up his front paws and say, "Never again!" But he is "le plus charmant" of French canines, and as he closes his eyes, and embraces his master it is easy to see that the equivalent English expression for his thoughts are, "I will not go away any more!"

"Kiss" Owner a Flyer. Lieutenant Tabureau is a daring aviator, and a veteran of battles in the clouds, but his nerve underwent a violent test when he returned to his automobile Tuesday, after having lunch with a party of friends, and found "Kiss" had taken departure from the back seat. He hurried to his apartment at the Oregon, and informed Mme. Tabureau of the catastrophe.

"Mon Dieu! le petit chien cher!" All the afternoon and half the night he hunted without avail. Mme. Tabureau was almost in tears, and the veteran aviator was scarcely less disturbed.

At sixteen and S streets the officer whistled—the call that was held carefully secret between "Kiss" and his master—and what was the delight of the searchers to see the graceful but frightened form of their "chien cher" dash around the corner.

"Here I Am" Barked in French. The dog's joy was nearly so human that he almost said, "Et vous plait, je suis ici," which, as the once again happy lieutenant will tell you, is the same as "If you please, here I am."

Lieutenant Tabureau afterward found out that the sagacious French shepherd had returned home during his absence, but had become dejected because no one was there to greet him, and had gone away again.

"Kiss" is half German police dog, but he is proud to say that he is now his fully a naturalized French dog that he knows he has lost all of the qualities of his ancestors.

MINISTER KILLS 8-FOOT BOA. FREDERICK, Md., Sept. 20.—The Rev. Grayson D. Kidner, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South, killed with shotgun yesterday at Woodland Park, near Mt. Airy, a boa constrictor seven feet nine inches long. The reptile was one of fourteen that escaped from a road show about two months ago, six, including an eleven-foot boa, being still at large.

Alkali Makes Soap Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulled coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt, and dandruff.—Advt.

HOW TO JUDGE A WOMAN BY HER HAIR

There is real common sense in just noticing whether the hair is well kept to judge of a woman's neatness, or good taste. If you are one of the few who try to make the most of your hair, remember that it is not advisable to wash the hair with any cleanser made for all purposes, but always use some good preparation made expressly for shampooing. You can enjoy the very best by getting some canthox from your druggist, dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo (about enough so it is easy to apply) and the hair instead of just the top of the head. Dandruff, greasy oil, and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much better than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gives the health which insures hair growth.—Advt.

ARCHITECTS DO NOT OPPOSE TEMPORARY BUILDING ON MALL

Denial that the American Institute of Architects opposes the proposition of Congressman Fitzgerald to erect a temporary office building on the Mall, to house overflow clerks of the Government departments was made today by Charles Harris Whitaker, editor of the official publication of the society.

"I want to deny the report that the institute is opposing the erection of a temporary building on the Mall as proposed by Congressman Fitzgerald," said Mr. Whitaker, "in which to house the large number of Government employees who are today working under serious handicaps through lack of proper space."

"The American Institute of Architects opposes the proposition of the Capital—whether temporary or permanent—but it believes that the intolerable situation which has grown up through years of neglect must now be corrected without delay, as a measure vital to war efficiency. It is opposed to the erection of any permanent building at this moment because the report of the Public Buildings Commission, which will deal comprehensively with this subject, is not yet before Congress."

"But it does believe that temporary structures, made safe for the employees housed in them, are the only answer to the pressing needs of the moment. It also sees in such action by Congress, hope that the future will be dealt with in a broad spirit, and that we may begin to look forward to the end of wasteful rentals and the erection of unrelated office buildings on the base of a ten-year Government lease."
